NYP Real Estate Guide Home

South Beach $6.195 million

No reason to go all the way to Italy — Miami will do just fine, especially when the designers and builders of this Murano at Portofino condo have already brought the best of Italy to South Beach. Indeed this “stunning” “showcase” of a home is more than just “Italian-inspired” — it is decked out in “custom Italian mosaic tile” and furnished by “furniture craftsmen” flown in from Europe. Besides, the space — 3,365 square feet, with three bedrooms, four bathrooms, a “generous living-entertainment area” and walls of stylish built-ins — makes for a perfectly nice Mediterranean retreat right on the Atlantic.
